A billion here, a billion there, and pretty soon you're talking real money!

—Senator Everett Dirksen

Senator Dirksen may have been referring to excessive government spending, but his words seem equally applicable to the revenue contribution of the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division. Sometime this spring, perhaps May, the Division will transfer its billionth dollar to state and local government in less than two decades.

Since reorganizing Iowa's liquor control system in 1987, the Division has generated $964.8 million in revenue, to date, from the sale of liquor, beer and wine excise taxes, licensing fees and civil penalties. The majority of the revenue has been transferred directly to Iowa's general fund, while the balance has been given back to local governments or allotted to substance abuse programs in the state. In observance of the fast-approaching milestone, I would like to take a moment to review the Division's various revenue sources and give you an idea of their role in achieving "a billion here" in the State of Iowa.

I. Liquor Sales

Liquor sales, as you have probably witnessed, have become increasingly robust over the past decade and account for 59 percent of total revenues. As Iowa's exclusive wholesaler of alcohol, the Division has generated $577.2 million in liquor profits alone. Liquor sales have increased annually for the past 10 years and Fiscal Year 2005, which began July 1, 2004, is likely to continue the trend with sales grossing $77 million (10 percent ahead of the prior year) at the halfway mark.

The increase in liquor sales can be attributed to several variables. A primary factor has been consumer trade-up as "top-shelf" premium goods do well in the marketplace. In support of that belief, I note that, while dollar sales are up 10 percent so far this fiscal year, gallonage sales trail with only a 5.5 percent increase.

The explosion of flavors in the spirits world is another explanation for the upward trend. New flavored spirits – primarily in the vodka and rum categories – are expanding consumers' horizons while appealing to a larger audience. The Martini's return to fashion for example, has been aided by the growth of the flavored vodka category and the resulting explosion of drink menus. Sales have also been fueled by demographics. The 21-to-29-year-old age group, the largest consuming segment, has been growing at the rate of 2 percent per year and is expected to continue to do so until 2010.

Finally, the liquor industry has made inroads into the dominant U.S. beer market. (The average per capita consumption of beer in Iowa is 33 gallons of beer versus 1 gallon of spirits.) While the shift is slight, aggressive advertising campaigns by the principle liquor suppliers have influenced consumer preference. At the same time that liquor sales have been on the rise, beer sales in Iowa have been flat in the last half of 2004.

II. Excise Taxes

Beer and wine excise taxes, combined, account for $282.7 million or 29 percent of total revenues with beer contributing $220 million (23 percent) and wine contributing $62.3 million (6 percent). While a 50 percent mark-up is applied to the wholesale price of spirits, a flat gallonage tax is levied on beer and wine of 19 cents and $1.75, respectively. Beer and wine excise taxes are collected at the point of sale from distributors to retail outlets and neither rate has been increased since 1986.

The trend line for wine in Iowa has been on a steeper incline than that of beer in recent years. Beer sales for the first half of Fiscal Year 2005, for instance, are up less than 1 percent while wine has enjoyed a healthy growth rate of almost 10 percent. Those numbers are consistent with national trends for each category. The slight growth in the beer market has been aided chiefly by imports and the emergence of new low-carb beverages.

III. License Fees & Civil Penalties

The Iowa Code authorizes nine different categories of licenses for liquor, beer and wine sales. By charging a fee for individual licenses, or combinations of various licenses, the Division has generated $101.6 million since 1987. The fees, which are collected on an annual basis, have accounted for 11 percent of the Division's total revenue. Currently, the Division oversees more than 10,000 permits for various types of alcohol sales – both on and off premise. The majority of a license fee remains with the local governmental authority where the business operates.

If licensees are caught violating the terms of their permits or engaging in illegal sales, the Division receives money from civil penalties collected from violators. Civil penalties, however, account for less than 1 percent of the Division's revenue. The Civil penalty fund is transferred to the state's general fund, while license fees are divided between the state and local governments.

IV. Closing

The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division will soon achieve a major milestone in the history of the agency. A billion dollars, by anyone's accounting, is no small sum. The "billion here" generated by the Division, for example, translates into $342 for every man, woman and child in the state. In terms of taxpayer services, a billion dollars is equivalent to a 1,000 miles of new paved four-lane Iowa highways or, alternatively, funding for the entire budget at the University of Iowa for two-and-a-half years.

The billion dollar mark will have been achieved in the course of 18 years of operation. Judging by the current sales trend, the Division will likely reach the second billion – "a billion there" – in less than half the time it took to reach the first billion. Knowing that, I think it's safe to say that pretty soon Iowa will be "talking real money!"

CHEERS!

IowaABD.com Web Feature: 17 Years of Fund Transfers

The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division generates significant revenue for the state and local authorities from the licensing, regulation, taxation and wholesaling of alcohol. In fact, last fiscal year, FY 2004, the Division alone accounted for more than $76 million of state general fund appropriated revenues.

* FY 1991 - Liquor payables increased from 60 to 90 days with the excess funds being transferred to the General Fund.

** FY 1992 - Liquor payables were maintained at 90 days, resulting in an additional month of liquor payments in FY 1992 than in FY 1993. At the same time, funding for the Division converted from the Liquor Trust Fund to General Fund Appropriations, increasing transfers thereafter.

*** FY 1993 - General Fund transfers were reduced in order to bring Equity to a positive balance.

SMALL INDULGENCE Big City Style

BETWEEN: Martini's Grille's signature martinis (from top to bottom) include the Strawberry Belvedere, Ruby Slipper and 007.

Martini's Grille shakes up Burlington

Sitting in Martini's Grille, looking out the fourth story window and watching the Mississippi River creep by Burlington, Iowa, you get the feeling you're in an upscale big city martini bar.

Waiters dressed in olive green shirts – well versed in the restaurant's menu and the bar's selection of wines and martinis – greet you with a professional aura and yet a Midwestern smile. The restaurant, which was built on the top floor of a renovated hospital, is enclosed by panels of windows that offer a picturesque view of the muddy Mississippi and the Great River Bridge. The bar is the focal point of the restaurant, and it emits a continuous hum of ice cubes hitting the sides of metal martini shakers.

With its atmosphere and attitude, Martini's Grille brings a big city bar to rural Iowa. Aside from the lack of surrounding skyscrapers, there's only one thing different.

"Why are martinis so popular? It's a classic. The drink is timeless. It's kind of like Ralph Lauren or Ernest Hemingway."

- Peter Harman

Harman and his wife Kim have traveled to San Francisco, New York City, Tampa, Kansas City, Dallas, San Antonio, Scottsdale and Las Vegas in the past year searching for the hippest big city drinks. When they find one, Har-

TOP: Martini's Grille was built on the fourth floor of a renovated hospital. The restaurant is surrounded by large windows that offer a picturesque view of the Mississippi River and the Great River Bridge. LEFT: The Martini's Grille wait staff is well versed in the bar's martini and wine menus. While martinis are the bar's specialty, its menu also boasts more than 50 wine selections. BOTTOM LEFT: Bar Manager James Evans shakes a "Cosmo" martini for a customer. Martini's Grille's martinis are made with daily-prepared fresh ingredients including fruit juices and sweet and sour mix. Evans said fresh ingredients are the key to a perfect martini. "And it has to be as cold as humanly possible," he said.

"We have a wide range of clientele from the upper crest of Burlington to Joe Schmoe off the street. Anybody and everybody are welcome."
- James Evans

man tweaks the recipe and Kim, whose taste buds are honed sharper than a blood hound's nose, determines if it should be added to Martini's Grille's library of recipes.

To make the cut, Harman said the martini has to have its own identity. It has to offer his customers a small indulgence – something affordable that endows them with a feeling of sophistication.

"A small indulgence is a big deal," Harman said. "A beer is a beer, and a glass of wine is a glass of wine, but a martini, with its endless variations, has its own identity. I can't afford the Mercedes, and I can't afford the house I want. But I can drink the same Martini that Harrison Ford did when he came in here."

Which is why a big city martini bar can work in a modest Midwestern town. Martinis can be appealing to anybody, anytime, Evans said. "We really have a wide range of clientele from the upper crest of Burlington to Joe Schmoe off the street. We have a wide range of prices on our menu and the quality doesn't decrease with the price. Anybody and everybody are welcome."

The Martini's Grille food menu includes a vast selection of beef, seafood and salad as well as several other specialty items. Harman's signature "Chicken Lips" are best described as massive boneless buffalo wings dunked in his secret sauce. He has sold more than a million of them.

But it's the drink menu, the rows of back-lit premium liquor bottles behind the bar and the fourth story view of the Mississippi that makes Martin's Grille unique. It's about being James Bond 007 for a night and about living luxuriously while staying within your means.

"Why are martinis so popular?" Harman poses. "It's a classic. The drink is timeless. It's kind of like Ralph Lauren or Ernest Hemingway. It will always be good because it's timeless."

And you don't have to be in a big city to enjoy one. Martini's Grill will certainly make sure of that.

Yo, Ho, Ho—and a Bottle of Flavored Rum!

Pirates of old probably wouldn't give a single "yo" or "ho" for a bottle of one of the new-fangled flavored rums—but today's consumers are snatching them up in record numbers. Apples, bananas, coconuts, limes, mangoes, pineapples, raspberries, vanilla, and spices galore now add their distinctive yet subtle flavors to the traditional clear, sweet liquor, making it more interesting, more mixable, and more enjoyable.

Try sipping some of the flavored rums on their own to find out which ones whet your appetite for new taste combinations. Also try using some of the flavored versions in place of light rum—or even vodka or whiskey—in your favorite drinks. Here are some basic recipes to get you started. Yo, ho, ho!

Flavored Rum and Cokes

2 ounces flavored rum
3 ounces Coca-Cola

Pour the rum into a chilled old-fashioned or highball (collins) glass half-filled with ice. Add the Coca-Cola. Note: Do not stir this drink or any other drink made with a carbonated beverage or the drink will taste flat; the carbonation will naturally "mix" the ingredients.

Flavored Mojitos

Flavored rum replaces light rum in this updated version of the classic rum, lime, and mint drink.

12 mint leaves
½ lime
2-3 teaspoons sugar
1-2 ounces flavored rum of choice
Club soda
Sprig of mint
Lime wedge

Crush the mint leaves with a pestle and mortar and scrape into a collins glass (you can crush the mint with a long-handled spoon in the bottom of the serving glass if the glass is heavy enough).

Squeeze the juice from the lime into the serving glass. Drop the squeezed lime into the glass and add the sugar; muddle (stir) until well mixed.

Fill the glass with ice. Pour the rum over the ice and top with a splash of club soda. Garnish with the mint sprig and lime wedge.

Flavored Daiquiris

2 ounces flavored rum
Juice of ½ lime
1/2 teaspoon sugar syrup*

Pour the rum, lime juice, and sugar syrup into a shaker; fill shaker with ice and shake vigorously. Strain into a chilled serving glass.

* To make sugar syrup, dissolve about 1 cup sugar in 1/2 cup water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat, stirring frequently; reduce heat and simmer for a few minutes, stirring frequently, until syrup thickens.

Flavored Cosmopolitans

2 ounces flavored rum
1 ounce triple sec
1 ounce cranberry juice
1/2 ounce freshly squeezed lime juice
Lime wedge or other fruit

Pour all of the ingredients into a shaker half-filled with ice; shake vigorously and strain into a chilled cocktail glass. Garnish with a lime wedge.

Add Distinctive Flavor with Cordials

cordials, also called liqueurs, are produced by combining brandy, gin, rum, whiskey, or another alcoholic beverage with fruit, herbs, spices, and/or other flavorful natural substances (see the list below). Try adding one or a combination of cordials to your next cup of after-dinner or evening coffee.

Anisette—flavored with anise, which gives it a rich licorice taste.

Benedictine—flavored with more than 25 herbs and spices including cardamom, cloves, myrrh, nutmeg, and vanilla. B&B (Benedictine and Brandy) is a blend of Benedictine and cognac.

Chambord—flavored with framboises (small black raspberries) and other fruits plus herbs and honey.

Cointreau—flavored with a blend of bitter and sweet oranges.

Crème de Cacao—flavored with vanilla and cacao (cocoa) beans; comes in both white and brown varieties.

These Coffees Say It's Time To Relax

Just sit down in your favorite chair; put up your feet, and take a sip or two. These flavored coffees will make you say "Ahhh" in no time.

You can make them as bold or subtle as you want. Start with the basic recipe below and experiment to find out which flavors—or combination of flavors—you enjoy most. For an extra-special treat or for your next dinner gathering try the dramatic Coffee Flambé.

Basic Flavored-Coffee Recipe

5-6 ounces freshly brewed coffee
1 1/2-2 ounces alcoholic beverage of choice
(see the recipe suggestions below and Add Distinctive Flavor with Cordials on page 32)
Whipped sweetened heavy cream (optional)

Warm a coffee glass or mug by filling it with hot water ahead of time; pour out the water when you are ready to mix the drink.

Pour the hot coffee into the warm serving glass; add the alcoholic beverage of choice and stir gently to mix. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Irish Coffee—add 1 1/2 ounces Irish whiskey or Irish cream or 1 ounce of each

Italian Coffee—add 1 1/2 ounces amaretto or Galliano

Jamaican Coffee—add 1 1/2 ounces rum or 1 ounce rum and 1 ounce coffee-flavored liqueur or brandy

Mexican Coffee—add 1 1/2 ounces tequila or 1 ounce tequila and 1 ounce coffee liqueur

Russian Coffee—add 1/2 ounces each vodka, hazelnut-flavored liqueur, and coffee-flavored liqueur

Mint-Flavored Coffee

5-6 ounces freshly brewed coffee
1-1 1/2 ounces peppermint or spearmint schnapps
1/2 ounce white or green crème de menthe
Whipped sweetened heavy cream

Warm a coffee glass or mug by filling it with hot water ahead of time; pour out the water when you are ready to mix the drink.

Pour the hot cocoa mix into the warm serving glass. Add the hot coffee, tequila, and brandy; stir gently until thoroughly mixed. Top with whipped cream.

Mocha Coffee

1-2 teaspoons cocoa
5-6 ounces freshly brewed coffee
1-1 1/2 ounces tequila
1/2-1 ounce coffee-flavored brandy
Whipped sweetened heavy cream

Warm a coffee glass or mug by filling it with hot water ahead of time; pour out the water when you are ready to mix the drink.

Pour the hot cocoa mix into the warm serving glass. Add the hot coffee, tequila, and brandy; stir gently until thoroughly mixed. Top with whipped cream.

Coffee Flambé

1-1 1/2 tablespoons cognac
1-1 1/2 tablespoons coffee-flavored liqueur
Lemon slice
Sugar
Freshly brewed coffee
Whipped sweetened heavy cream

Warm a coffee glass or mug by filling it with hot water; set aside.

Combine the cognac and coffee liqueur in a small saucepan and warm over low heat.

Pour out the hot water and moisten the rim of the serving glass with the lemon slice; dip the glass upside down in sugar. Carefully hold the top of the glass over low heat or a match to melt the sugar.

Pour the warm cognac and liqueur into the prepared glass and carefully ignite. Pour in the coffee (the coffee will extinguish the flames) and stir well. Top with whipped cream

THE J-BAR

at HOTEL JEROME, ASPEN

At the Hotel Jerome in Aspen, Colorado, the Jerome Bar has been operating since 1889. The J-Bar's interior still holds the same casual flair it had when silver miners frequented the bar during the silver mining days of Aspen. The warm lodge atmosphere, with its pressed tin ceiling, Victorian design with Oriental influence, and silver-inlaid marble floor are all tributes to the Western saloon culture from which the bar was.

Now, over a century later, the Jerome Bar is still one of the most famous, historic bars in Colorado. The J-Bar is the birthplace of one of Aspen's signature drinks — the Manhaspen. The drink mixes bourbon with Tuaca, instead of vermouth, and was created by the J-Bar's Bart Hull, son of hockey legend Bobby Hull.

The Jerome Bar is located inside the Hotel Jerome, in the heart of downtown Aspen. They also serve deli sandwiches, appetizers, and a variety of alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks. The Jerome Burger comes highly recommended.
